Public Opinion in Pakistan in the Year 2009

CRIME Violence and Security

Between 2009 and 2016, 31% more Pakistanis consider themselves to be safe.
Islamabad, August 6, 2019

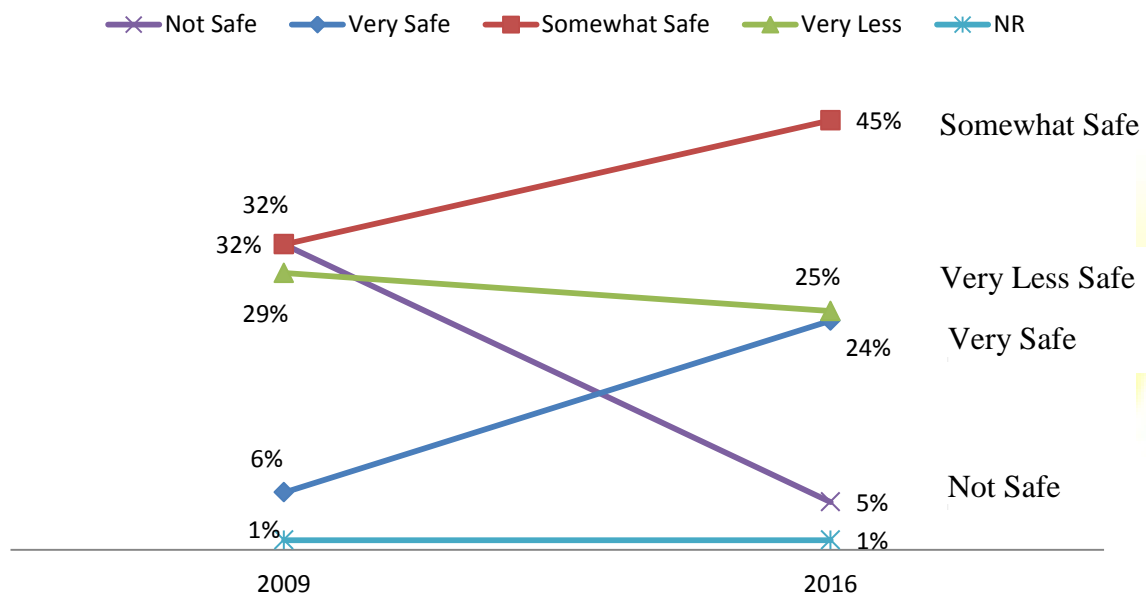

In a Gallup & Gilani Pakistan National Survey conducted in the year 2009, i.e., 7 years ago, respondents were asked, “Considering the current situation, how safe do you consider yourself to be?” In response to this question, 6% said they consider themselves to be very safe, 32% said they consider themselves to be somewhat safe, 29% said they consider themselves very less safe, 32% consider themselves not safe, and 1% did not respond or said they did not know.

Comparative Picture: The question was asked again in 2016 to enable a comparison to be made across the years. In 2016, 24% said they consider themselves to be very safe, 45% said they consider themselves to be somewhat safe, 25% said they consider themselves very less safe, 5% consider themselves not safe, and 1% did not respond or said they did not know.

There has been an increase of 31 percentage-points in the proportion of Pakistanis consider themselves safe alongside a decrease of 31 percentage-points in the proportion of Pakistan who consider themselves unsafe.

This press release has been made as part of the Gallup Pakistan History Project which aims to release historical empirical polling data to wider audiences. The objective is to sustain and encourage empirical decision making in Pakistan.

Aim and Rationale for Gallup Pakistan History Project

Bilal I Gilani, who is Executive Director at Gallup Pakistan and is Director of Gallup Pakistan History Project explains the aim of the Project as follows: ‘Gallup Pakistan has been polling in Pakistan since 1979 (over 40 years). During this time millions of Pakistanis have been surveyed by over a thousand interviewers of Gallup. In 2014, Gallup Pakistan has decided to release historical Public Opinion data and this Press Release is part of Gallup Pakistan’s History Project. This endeavor is dedicated to all those who hope for a more empirical understanding of Pakistani Issues. For more information about Gallup History Project, please contact caf@gallup.com.pk.
