PAKISTANI POLITICS

Views on Insurgency in Baluchistan (Part 4)

This is a 6 part series on popular views about insurgency in Baluchistan. The poll laps all Pakistani views and explains how the majority of Pakistanis from all over the country view the current situation in one of their four provinces. The province of Baluchistan has a small share in the nation's population, only about 5%; but it has a large land mass of around 45% of the land area of the whole country. In part 1, we discuss nation-wide fears and apprehensions about Baluchistan insurgency; part 2 seeks views on who is to blame for the popular unrest in Baluchistan; part 3 seeks nation-wide views on economic conditions in Baluchistan as compared with the rest of the country, part 4 seeks views on claims that Baluchistan does not get fair share in its natural resources; part 5 seeks views on political rights of Baluchistan; part 6 shows views on a 6 Point Charter of demands presented by a Baloch leader at the Supreme Court of Pakistan.

Majority of Pakistanis believe Baluchistan does not get fair share in its natural resources: 38% believe in this view completely while 21% believe it partially. GILANI POLL/GALLUP PAKISTAN

Islamabad, November 07, 2012

According to a Gilani Research Foundation Survey carried out by Gallup Pakistan, majority of Pakistanis believe Baluchistan does not get fair share in its natural resources: 38% believe in this view completely while 21% believe it partially.

A nationally representative sample of men and women from across the four provinces was asked "Some people are of the opinion that the province of Baluchistan does not get a fair share in its natural resources. Do you agree or disagree with this?" Responding to this, 38% completely agree, 21% partially agree and 21% completely disagree. However, 20% did not give a response.

Question: "Some people are of the opinion that the province of Baluchistan does not get a fair share in its natural resources. Do you agree or disagree with this?"
