1 in 3 Pakistanis believe that boys should get married before age 24. GILANI RESEARCH FOUNDATION (GRF POLL)

Islamabad, April 08, 2016

According to a Gilani Research Foundation Survey carried out by Gallup Pakistan, 39% Pakistanis believe that the appropriate age for a boy to get married is up to 24 years.

A nationally representative sample of men and women from across the four provinces was asked, “What, in your opinion, is the appropriate age for a boy to get married?” In response to this question, 6% said up to 18 years, 14% said 19-21 years, 19% said 22-24 years and 40% said 25-27 years. 18% on the other hand said 28-30 years and 3% said more than 30 years.

The same question was also asked in November 2010. In 2010, 4% respondents had said that boys should get married up to the age of 18 years, 14% said that they should get married within 19-21 years while 12% said that they should get married within 22-24 years. 43% respondents said that boys should get married between 25-27 years and 22% said that they should get married between 28-30 years. 3% mentioned more than 30 years as the appropriate age for marriage.

Question: “What, in your opinion, is the appropriate age for a boy to get married?”
