PREFERENCE OF PAKISTANIS CLAIMING TO HAVE HAD A BLOOD TEST
- NOVEMBER 1, 2002

According to a recent survey carried out by Gallup Pakistan slightly more than half of all Pakistani adult men and women say they have at some point in their life undergone a blood test. The survey posed the question: “Have you had a chance at some point in your life to get your blood tested?” Responding to this 54% of the respondents gave an affirmative answer. The figure was higher in the urban areas where 62% said they had undergone a blood test and somewhat lower the rural areas where 50% gave the same answer. It is also notable that more women (65%) than men (50%) said they had undergone a blood test. This is probably a result of the requirement of blood tests during pregnancy.

The survey was conducted by Gallup Pakistan, the Pakistani affiliate of Gallup International among more than 1500 statistically selected households in both urban and rural areas of all the four provinces of Pakistan. The sample comprised a cross section of various income, education and geographic segments. The text of this report can also be seen on the internet at: www.gallup.com.pk.
