Economic Issues Perceived to be Number One Problem of Pakistan: GILANI POLL/GALLUP PAKISTAN

Islamabad, February 15, 2010

According to a recent Gilani Research Foundation survey carried out by Gallup Pakistan, two thirds of all Pakistanis believe Economic problems are their problems number one, specifically, inflation (43%) and unemployment (20%). But terrorism or law and order issues have erupted as a key issue as well: 32% mention law and order as the number one problem faced by Pakistan today. All other problems are mentioned by only 5% as the number one ladder.

A nationally representative sample of men and women from across the country were read of out a list of possible issues Pakistan is facing these days and were asked “In your opinion which ONE of the following problems is the number one issue of Pakistan in the current time?” Forty three percent (43%) believe “Inflation” is the biggest problem of Pakistan, 32% think it is “Terrorism” which tops the list of possible problems, and 20% feel “Unemployment” is the biggest issue of today’s Pakistan. Four percent (4%) of the respondents cited “External threats” as the most crucial issue while the remaining 1% cited Kashmir or other problems.

The findings of the survey reveal no significant differences in opinion of people across various demographics except that a significantly higher percentage of ANP voters think of terrorism to be the most critical problem of Pakistan these days.

“In your opinion which ONE of the following problems is the number one issue of Pakistan in the current time?”
