*Gilani Poll/Gallup Pakistan
Islamabad - September 23, 2014*

According to a Gilani Research Foundation Survey carried out by Gallup Pakistan, 75% Pakistanis flew the national flag from their house, while 74% watched special programs on television.

A nationally representative sample of adult men and women, from across the four provinces was asked, “If you had a chance to participate in the 14th August ceremonies this year, which of these ceremonies did you participate in?” In response to this question, 75% respondents said they had flown the national flag from their house, while 24% had not and 1% did not respond. 40% had flown the flag on their vehicles, while 59% had not and 1% did not respond. 19% respondents said they had attended rallies on Independence day while 81% had not attended rallies. 74% respondents had watched special programs on television on Independence Day while 26% had not watched special programs.

Participation in these ceremonies has been rising over the past few years after witnessing a dip in 2010, when participation decreased. In August 2010, only 53% respondents had flown the national flag from their house, 13% had flown it from their vehicles, 8% had attended rallies, and 55% had watched special programs on television. Except for 2003, when 95% of respondents said they had flown the flag from their house, participation in each of these ceremonies was at its highest ever in 2014.

The study was released by Gilani Research Foundation and carried out by Gallup Pakistan, the Pakistani affiliate of Gallup International. The recent survey was carried out among a sample of 2558 men and women in rural and urban areas of all four provinces of the country, during August 18 – August 25, 2014. Error margin is estimated to be approximately ± 2 -3 per cent at 95% confidence level.
