

Public Opinion in Pakistan in the Year 2007

MEDIA Television

(2007-2016) 12% increase in the proportion of Pakistanis who think that TV channels in Pakistan show more than enough local news as compared to international news.

Islamabad, October 18, 2016

According to a Gallup Pakistan National Survey conducted in the year 2007 (9 years ago) respondents were asked, “In your opinion, do all TV channels in Pakistan show local news enough, too little or too much?” To this, 55% said it is enough, 34% said it is less than needed and 10% said it is more than enough. 1% did not respond.

Comparative Picture: The question was asked again in 2016 to enable a concrete comparison. In 2016, 52% said it is enough, 25% said it is less than needed and 22% said it is more than enough. 1% did not respond.

According to public opinion, there has been a 3% decrease in the proportion of people who think it is enough, a 9% decrease in the proportion who think it is less than needed and a 12% increase in the proportion of people who think it is more than enough.

This press release has been made as part of the Gallup Pakistan History Project which aims to release historical empirical polling data to wider audiences. The objective is to sustain and encourage empirical decision making in Pakistan.

Question: “In your opinion, do all TV channels in Pakistan show local news enough, too little or too much?”

Bilal I Gilani, Executive Director Gallup Pakistan adds: “The findings of this poll reflect a greater unmet need for more foreign news content in our news channels.”

Aim and Rationale for Gallup Pakistan History Project

Bilal I Gilani, who is Executive Director at Gallup Pakistan and is Director of Gallup Pakistan History Project explains the aim of the Project as follows: ‘Gallup Pakistan has been polling in Pakistan since 1979 (over 35 years). During this time millions of Pakistanis have been surveyed by over a thousand interviewers of Gallup. In 2014, Gallup Pakistan has decided to release historical Public Opinion data and this Press Release is part of Gallup Pakistan’s History Project. This endeavor is dedicated to all those who hope for a more empirical understanding of Pakistani Issues. For more information about Gallup History Project, please contact caf@gallup.com.pk.’
