

Public Opinion in Pakistan in the Year 1997

MEDIA Radio

(1997-2016) 9% increase in the proportion of people who do not listen to radio. GILANI POLL/GALLUP PAKISTAN

Islamabad, November 3, 2016

According to a Gallup Pakistan National Survey conducted in the year 1997 (19 years ago) respondents were asked, “How many days in a week do you usually listen to radio?” To this, 3% said one to three days, 18% said four to seven days, 34% said occasionally while 45% said they do not listen to radio.

Comparative Picture: The question was asked again in 2016 to enable a concrete comparison. In 2016, 3% said one to three days, 15% said four to seven days, 27% said occasionally while 54% said they do not listen to radio. 1% did not respond.

According to public opinion, there has been a 3% decrease in the proportion of people who usually listen to radio four to seven days in a week, a 7% decrease in the proportion of people who usually listen to radio occasionally and a 9% increase in the proportion of people who do not listen to radio.

This press release has been made as part of the Gallup Pakistan History Project which aims to release historical empirical polling data to wider audiences. The objective is to sustain and encourage empirical decision making in Pakistan.

Question: “How many days in a week do you usually listen to radio?”
