(1986-2016) 10% increase in the proportion of Pakistanis who will report personal mistreatment to the police; 1/5th Pakistanis would respond by taking revenge. GILANI POLL/GALLUP PAKISTAN

Islamabad, January 10, 2017

According to a Gallup Pakistan National Survey conducted in the year 1986 (30 years ago) respondents were asked, “God forbid if someone mistreats you (physically abuses you or cheats you), how will you react in response?” To this, 43% said will report to the police, 20% said will take revenge ourselves, 31% said will keep quiet, 4% said others. 2% did not know or did not wish to respond.

Comparative Picture: The question was asked again in 2016 to enable a concrete comparison. In 2016, 53% said will report to the police, 20% said will take revenge ourselves and 26% said will keep quiet. 1% did not know or did not wish to respond.

According to public opinion, there has been a 10% increase in the proportion of Pakistanis who will report mistreatment to the police and a 5% decrease in the proportion of Pakistanis who will keep quiet.

This press release has been made as part of the Gallup Pakistan History Project which aims to release historical empirical polling data to wider audiences. The objective is to sustain and encourage empirical decision making in Pakistan.

Question: “God forbid if someone mistreats you (physically abuses you or cheats you), how will you react in response?”

Aim and Rationale for Gallup Pakistan History Project

Bilal I Gilani, who is Executive Director at Gallup Pakistan and is Director of Gallup Pakistan History Project explains the aim of the Project as follows: ‘Gallup Pakistan has been polling in Pakistan since 1979 (over 35 years). During this time millions of Pakistanis have been surveyed by over a thousand interviewers of Gallup. In 2014, Gallup Pakistan has decided to release historical Public Opinion data and this Press Release is part of Gallup Pakistan’s History Project. This endeavor is dedicated to all those who hope for a more empirical understanding of Pakistani Issues. For more information about Gallup History Project, please contact caf@gallup.com.pk.’
