(2005-2017): 3/4th Pakistanis say they take pride in their work (a lot and somewhat); 8% say not at all.

GALLUP & GILANI PAKISTAN

Islamabad, September 19, 2017

According to a Gallup & Gilani Pakistan National Survey conducted in the year 2005 (12 years ago) respondents were asked “How much pride do you take in whatever work you are doing?” Responding to this, 35% said they took a lot of pride in their work, 54% said somewhat pride and 11% said very little pride.

Comparative Picture: The question was asked again in 2017 to enable a concrete comparison. In 2017, 21% said they took a lot of pride in their work, 54% said somewhat pride, 17% said very little pride and 8% said not at all. The survey was administered on employed Pakistanis.

The findings are available since 2005 periodically and the graph below shows how the public opinion has fluctuated over the years.

This press release has been made as part of the Gallup Pakistan History Project which aims to release historical empirical polling data to wider audiences. The objective is to sustain and encourage empirical decision making in Pakistan.

Question: “How much pride do you take in whatever work you are doing?”

Aim and Rationale for Gallup Pakistan History Project

Bilal I Gilani, who is Executive Director at Gallup Pakistan and is Director of Gallup Pakistan History Project explains the aim of the Project as follows: ‘Gallup Pakistan has been polling in Pakistan since 1979 (over 35 years). During this time millions of Pakistanis have been surveyed by over a thousand interviewers of Gallup. In 2014, Gallup Pakistan has decided to release historical Public Opinion data and this Press Release is part of Gallup Pakistan’s History Project. This endeavor is dedicated to all those who hope for a more empirical understanding of Pakistani Issues. For more information about Gallup History Project, please contact caf@gallup.com.pk.
