Islamabad, November 22, 2017

According to Pakistan Social and Living Measurement Survey analyzed by Gallup Pakistan, youth enrollment in higher education and skills training remains low in Pakistan. 10% males & 9% females, aged between 18-24 years, say they are enrolled in some higher education or skills training institute.

However, it is encouraging to see that the gender gap is very narrow at only 1%.

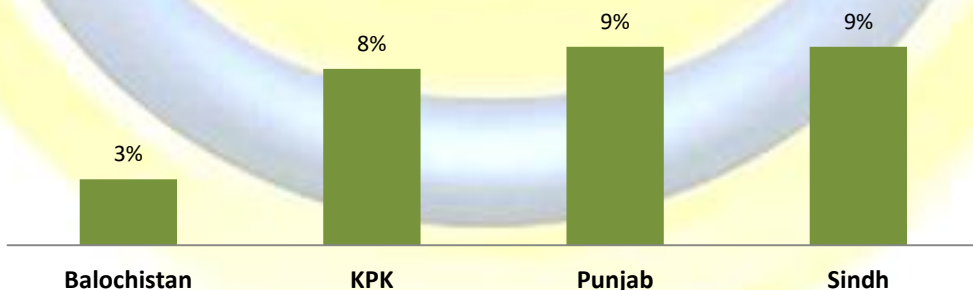

Provincial Breakdown: Balochistan lags behind in terms of Higher Education

Barely 3% of the respondents from Balochistan answered in the affirmative about being enrolled in either a higher education or some skills training. Meanwhile, 8% from KPK and 9% each from Sindh and Punjab said they were enrolled.

Question: “Are you enrolled in either a college/university or some skills training institute?”

Bilal I Gilani, Executive Director at Gallup & Gilani Pakistan adds: “The results of PSLM survey show that there are around 2 million 18-24 age group students in public and private universities and colleges. With significant rise in universities in Pakistan over the past decade (a growth of nearly 300% since late 1990’s), the higher education market in Pakistan is booming. However, there is less analysis on the quality of education being imparted to these 2 million students.”
