Public Opinion in Pakistan in the Year 2011

Miscellaneous/Other Issues Social Organizations

Over a period of 07 years, 14% increase in the proportion of Pakistanis who think that the performance of NGOs is commendable (very good, good).

Islamabad, October 18, 2018

According to a Gallup & Gilani Pakistan National Survey conducted in the year 2011 (07 years ago) respondents were asked, “Kindly tell what you think about the performance of NGOs’ whether it was very good, good, satisfactory, bad or very bad?” In response to this question, 4% said it was very good, 13% said it was good leading to a positive approval rating of only 17%, , 31% said it was satisfactory, 21% said it was bad, 17 said it was very bad leading to negative rating of 38% while 14% did not know or respond to the question.

Comparative Picture: The question was asked again in 2018 to enable a concrete comparison. In 2018, 7% said NGOs’ performance was very good, 24% said it was good leading to a positive approval rating of 31%, 25% said it was satisfactory, 22% said it was bad, 11% said it was very bad leading to negative rating of 33% while 11% did not know or respond to the question.

There has been 14% increase in the proportion of Pakistanis who opined that NGOs performance is commendable (very good or good) while 5% decline in the proportion of Pakistanis who think that the performance has been bad (very bad or bad). It should be noted however that even now 1 in 3 Pakistanis have a negative view of NGO’s.

This press release has been made as part of the Gallup Pakistan History Project which aims to release historical empirical polling data to wider audiences. The objective is to sustain and encourage empirical decision making in Pakistan.

Question: “I will name some organizations: Kindly tell what you think about the performance of these organizations in the last year. Tell separately for each NGOs performance whether it was very good, good, satisfactory, bad or very bad?”

Aim and Rationale for Gallup Pakistan History Project

Bilal I Gilani, who is Executive Director at Gallup Pakistan and is Director of Gallup Pakistan History Project explains the aim of the Project as follows: ‘Gallup Pakistan has been polling in Pakistan since 1979 (over 35 years). During this time millions of Pakistanis have been surveyed by over a thousand interviewers of Gallup. In 2014, Gallup Pakistan has decided to release historical Public Opinion data and this Press Release is part of Gallup Pakistan’s History Project. This endeavor is dedicated to all those who hope for a more empirical understanding of Pakistani Issues. For more information about Gallup History Project, please contact caf@gallup.com.pk.
