In the past year, almost 1 in 10 (8 %) Pakistanis (around 10 million adults) had to visit a court (Gallup & Gilani Pakistan Poll)

Islamabad, 02 March, 2020

According to a Gilani Research Foundation Survey carried out by Gallup & Gilani Pakistan, in the past year, 8% Pakistanis had to visit a court. This adds to around 10 million Pakistanis who visited a court in one year.

A representative sample of men and women from across the four provinces was asked, “During the past year, did you or any of your household member have to visit a court/Kacheri to get any work done or not?” In response, 8% said yes, while 92% said no.

Urban-Rural Breakdown: Similar proportion of urban and rural residents had to visit a court in the past year

Out of the total urban respondents, 9% said they had to visit a court in the past year, while a lower 7% rural residents claimed the same.

Court Cases vs. Court Work:

In another survey, only 3% respondents reported that they themselves or a family member had a court case which added to around 900,000 cases. Comparing this statistic to the amount of court visits, it seems that nearly 90% of court visits are with regards to other services such as attestations, oaths and registrations.
