Law and Order*Pakistan ranks 89th across 128 countries in the world on transfer of power being subject to law. (World Justice Project and Gallup & Gilani Pakistan)

Islamabad, 26th November 2020,

According to a World Justice Project (WJP) Survey conducted by Gallup Pakistan, Pakistan ranks 89 among 128 countries surveyed in the world on transfer of power being subject to law.

The global survey results are based on sub-Factor 1.6 of the WJP Constraints on Government Power Index which measures whether government officials are elected or appointed in accordance with the rules and procedures set forth in the constitution. Where elections take place, it also measures the integrity of the electoral process, including access to the ballot, the absence of intimidation, and public scrutiny of election results.

Pakistan vs. Neighbouring/ South Asian Countries: On this index, India ranks much higher than Pakistan at 40, while the rest of the countries rank much lower, with Iran at 102nd, China at 125th and Bangladesh at 119th.

Pakistan vs. Developed: Denmark ranks 1st on this index, followed by UK at 20th and US at 48th.

The study was released by World Justice Project and carried out by Gallup & Gilani Pakistan, the Pakistani affiliate of Gallup International. The country scores and rankings presented in this report are built from more than 500 variables drawn from the assessments of more than 130,000 households and 4,000 legal practitioners and experts in 128 countries and jurisdictions. The study in Pakistan was carried out among a sample of 1,000 men and women in urban and rural areas of all four provinces of the country, during 2019. The error margin is estimated to be approximately $\pm 2-3$ percent at the 95% confidence level.
