15% of Pakistanis claim that they have experienced some form of violence (either physical or psychological) in the past; 14% of global respondents report this: Gallup Pakistan and WIN World Survey report released

(Islamabad), March 30, 2022

According to a Gallup Pakistan Survey in Pakistan (and similar surveys done by the Worldwide Independent Network of Market Research (WIN) across the world), 15% of Pakistanis claim that they have experienced some form of violence (either physical or psychological) in the past; 14% of global respondents report this.

These findings emerge from an international survey conducted across the globe by The Worldwide Independent Network of Market Research (WIN) - a global network conducting market research and opinion polls in every continent. WIN International has published the Annual WIN World Survey (WWS – 2021), exploring the views and beliefs of 33236 individuals, among citizens from 39 countries across the globe. On International Women's Day, WIN releases the latest results of the survey about gender equality, violence, and sexual harassment, to understand what are, if any, the improvements around the world in terms of equal opportunities and rights. The fieldwork for Pakistan was conducted between 10th October and 11th November 2021 and the sample size was 1000 individuals.

The international press release with the report can be accessed here.

A nationally representative sample of adult men and women from across the four provinces was asked the following question, “Have you suffered from any kind of violence (either physical or psychological) in the past year?” In response to this question in Pakistan, 15% said yes and 85% said no. At a global level, results about women experiencing physical or psychological violence are unfortunately stable compared to previous years: 16% in 2021, 17% in 2020, 16% in 2019.

Question: “Have you suffered from any kind of violence (either physical or psychological) in the past year?”

Regional Breakdown

When analyzing data by regions, some small improvements can be found: in Africa, MENA, APAC, and Americas the net index about women experiencing violence in the past year decreased by -7, -5, -2, and -1 respectively over the years.

The study was released by Gilani Research Foundation and carried out by Gallup & Gilani Pakistan, the Pakistani affiliate of Gallup International. The recent survey was carried out among a sample of 1000 men and women in urban and rural areas of all four provinces of the country, October 20 – November 11, 2021. The error margin is estimated to be approximately ± 2 -3 percent at the 95% confidence level. The methodology used for data collection was CATI.
