More than three-quarters (76%) of the global population compared to 66% of Pakistanis consider that technology is very important in their lives: Gallup Pakistan and WIN World Survey report released

(Islamabad), June 7, 2022

According to a Gallup Pakistan Survey in Pakistan (and similar surveys done by Worldwide Independent Network of Market Research (WIN) across the world), more than three-quarters (76%) of the global population compared to 66% of Pakistanis consider that technology is very important in their lives.

These findings emerge from an international survey conducted across the globe by The Worldwide Independent Network of Market Research (WIN) - a global network conducting market research and opinion polls in every continent. WIN International has published the Annual WIN World Survey (WWS – 2021), exploring the views and beliefs of 33,236 individuals, among citizens from 39 countries across the globe. On International Technology Day, WIN releases the latest results of the survey, to understand the concerns of sharing personal Information via digital platforms. The fieldwork for Pakistan was conducted between 15th October and 18th December 2021 and the sample size was 1000 individuals.

The international press release with the report can be accessed here.

A nationally representative sample of adult men and women from across the world were asked the following question. “How Important is technology in your life?” In response to this question in Pakistan, 41% said extremely important, 25% said very important, 20% said slightly important, 11% said not important at all and 3% didn’t know or gave no response.
