8% rise in Pakistanis who feel there is a rising generational gap between the older and younger generation in Pakistan: Gallup & Gilani Pakistan History Project

(Islamabad), August 8th, 2022

In a Gallup & Gilani Pakistan National Survey conducted in the year 2012, a representative sample of adult men and women from across Pakistan was asked the following question, “In all countries there are often differences or conflicts between different social classes and different age groups. In your opinion, how much disagreement or conflict is there between the elderly and youngsters in Pakistan?” In response to this question, 48% said a lot/some differences, 47% said very little/no differences, 3% said they could not share any opinion on it and 2% said they do not know or gave no response.

Comparative Picture: This question was asked again in 2023 to allow a comparison to be made across the years. In 2023, 56% said a lot/some differences, and 36% said very little/no differences, 5% said they could not share any opinion on it and 2% said they do not know or gave no response.

Trend Analysis: The proportion of people who are of the opinion that there are a lot/some differences between youngsters and the elderly has increased by 8% in the past 11 years from 2012 to 2023, and those that believe there are very little/no differences have decreased by 11% within the same period.

This press release has been made as part of the Gallup Pakistan History Project which aims to release historical empirical polling data to wider audiences. The objective is to sustain and encourage empirical decision-making in Pakistan.
