Army Viewed as the Most Effective Organization in Flood Relief (25%); Yet Nearly 1 in 5 Pakistanis (19%) Say No Organization Played an Effective Role – Gallup & Gilani Survey

(Islamabad), 23rd October 2025

According to a Gallup & Gilani Pakistan survey, army viewed as the most effective organization in flood relief (25%); yet nearly 1 in 5 Pakistanis (19%) say no organization played an effective role.

A nationally representative sample of adult men and women across the country was asked the question, “Which organization played the most effective role in providing relief to flood victims?”. In response, 25% of Pakistanis said the ‘Army’ played the most effective role in providing relief to flood victims. ‘Welfare organizations such as Edhi and Alkhidmat’ were mentioned by 12%, while 9% cited ‘local institutions or community groups’. 6% each selected the ‘federal government’ and ‘provincial government’. Notably, 19% said “none of the above,” played an effective role in providing relief, while 21% said they don’t know, and 2% gave no response.
