Press release 9 on Marriage and Domestic Harmony in Pakistan
'Would You Remarry? A Mens' View on Second Marriages'

Most Married Men in Pakistan (57%) Say They Would Not Marry a Second Time if Given the Opportunity; 30% Would (Gallup & Gilani Survey)

(Islamabad), 17th November 2025

According to a Gallup & Gilani Pakistan survey, most married men in Pakistan (57%) say they would not marry a second time if given the opportunity; 30% would.

This press release is part of Gallup Pakistan's ongoing series on Marriage and Domestic Harmony in Pakistan. The previous release of this series, 'Public Views on Conditions for a Second Marriage', can be accessed here.

A nationally representative sample of married men across the country was asked the question, "If you had the opportunity, would you (as a man) marry a second time?". In response, 57% of married men said they would not marry a second time even if given the opportunity, while 30% said they would. Another 12% found the decision too difficult to make at this time, and 1% did not respond.

These findings suggest that the majority of married men in Pakistan are not inclined towards second marriages, though a notable proportion remain open to the idea or are uncertain.

Question: If you had the opportunity, would you (as a man) marry a second time?
